

Compulsory licensing of patents in the United States: Running royalties as remedy to continued infringement of patents in the United States, under the eBay legal doctrine

DATE: Wednesday, 5 July 2017

TIME: 1 PM to 3 PM

VENUE: Room NBo.107, World Intellectual Property Organization

CONVENER: Knowledge Ecology International

Knowledge Ecology International (KEI) cordially invites you to attend our side event during deliberations at the Twenty-Sixth Session of Standing Committee on the Law of Patents (SCP) of the World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO).

KEI's Counsel, Andrew S. Goldman, will present on “Running royalties as remedy to continued infringement of patents in the United States, under the eBay legal doctrine”. In U.S. patent infringement cases, courts may issue compulsory licenses of patents, including patents on medical technologies, instead of issuing injunctions. In this talk, we will explore the legal framework underpinning these norms and examine how this has worked in practice.

A light lunch will be served prior to the event.

Moderator: Polly Markandya

Keynote Speaker: Andrew Spencer Goldman (Counsel, Policy & Legal Affairs, KEI)

Respondents:

Hu Yuan Qiong (Senior Legal & Policy Advisor, Médecins Sans Frontières | Access Campaign)

Dr. Viviana Muñoz (Coordinator, Development, Innovation and Intellectual Property Programme, South Centre)
