Open Letter from 66 civil society organisations working in sub Saharan Africa regarding the lack of clear support from the French government to increased transparency in research costs and prices for medicines

We stand in strong support of the resolution proposed by Italy, Spain, Portugal, Greece, South Africa and more, and endorsed by civil society organisations around the world, currently being negotiated during the World Health Assembly.

We note that the issue of excessive medicine pricing is a global crisis affecting all diseases, all health technologies, and not only Africa, but all countries around the world. Astronomical medicine prices cause avoidable suffering and death, and push health systems to their limits and millions of people into poverty.

The French government's lack of clear support to this resolution since the beginning of the negotiations is in sharp contrast to its claim to act as a leader in global health. A true champion of global health would vocally support this initiative.

We support maximum transparency in the prices for medicines—transparency means our governments can negotiate fair prices rather than negotiating blindly.

We are requesting the French government to stand in solidarity with people most at risk of suffering and death because of lack of access to medicines by clearly supporting the resolution text and stop any attempt to obstruct the negotiations.

Sincerely,

AIDS Information Centre (AIC), Uganda
